However, on 26 January 2026, the general meeting of the Company approved suspending the running of the 180 days' redemption notice period in the period from 1 January 2026 to 31 December 2026. The suspension of the running of the 180 days' period has the effect that for any Redemption Instruction Forms submitted by shareholders in the period from 1 January 2026 to 31 December 2026, the 180 days' notice period for redemptions will not start counting until on 1 January 2027.

Instruction of own custodian bank: The shareholder must instruct its own custodian bank, where the shares are held in deposit, to transfer the shares to the Company for purposes of redemption in accordance with Redemption Instruction Form.

Redemption amount: The redemption amount is paid in USD and is equal to the number of shares multiplied by the applicable Net Asset Value per share (NAV per share) in USD on the Dealing Day less applicable redemption fees and/or redemption costs pursuant to the Articles.

Redemption costs At the discretion of the Company, a deduction of the redemption amount may be made for covering the necessary costs of the redemption.

Right to postpone redemption: The Company may postpone the redemption to the effect that the redemption amount is fixed after the Company has realised the assets necessary for the redemption of shares. The Company may also decide to suspend redemption if justified doubts can be raised about the valuation or significant difference from the Company's assets at the time of redemption, or if the Fund Manager estimates that a reasonable redemption amount cannot be determined.

If demand for redemption represents more than 2% of the Company's assets or in aggregate more than 5% of the Company's assets within a three months period, the Company may require proportional postponement of redemption, in whole or in part, for a period which the Company considers to be in the best interest of the Company.

Additionally, please note that the running of the redemption notice period is currently suspended, please see above under "Notice to the Company".
